

UW Health is committed to being diverse and inclusive

UW Health's Interpreter Services provides interpreters for over 400 appointments a day. An average of 18 languages are requested each day.

Deer Park is the only full-scale monastic and teaching center upholding the Dalai Lama's tradition in the Midwest

LATINX
Latinx are the largest non-white/racial ethnic group in Dane County, comprising 6.3% of the population

UW Health prioritizes partnering with community organizations led by and/or specifically serving people of color or the LGBTQ community

Seats of government for the 11 federally-recognized American Indian Nations in Wisconsin

- Red Cliff* (Red Cliff, WI)
- Bad River* (Odanah, WI)
- Lac Courte Oreilles* (Hayward, WI)
- St. Croix* (Webster, WI)
- Forest County Potawatomi (Crandon, WI)
- Mole Lake* (Crandon, WI)
- Stockbridge-Munsee (Bowie, WI)
- Ho-Chunk (Black River Falls, WI)
- Menominee (Keshena, WI)
- Oneida (Oneida, WI)
- Brothertown (Fond du Lac, WI)

* Ojibwe nations
 Non-Federally Recognized & non-state recognized

- Madison is on the aboriginal homeland of the Ho-Chunk people, who call it TeeJop, meaning four lakes in the Hocak language
- In addition to the Ho-Chunk, Wisconsin is now home to another 10 federally recognized Tribal Nations, one state recognized Tribal Nation and other non-federally recognized Native American communities
- The Native American Center for Health Professions (NACHP) is located within the University of Wisconsin School of Medicine and Public Health. NACHP's mission is to improve recruitment, retention and graduation rates of Native American health professional students and to promote health education, research and community-academic partnerships with Native communities

UW Health has been named an LGBTQ leader in healthcare by the Human Rights Campaign for three consecutive years

Madison scored a maximum 100 on the Municipal Equality Index, rating the inclusiveness of the city's laws, policies, and services*

55% of students in the Madison Metropolitan School District are children of color

Wisconsin has the third largest Hmong community in the nation

Wisconsin has the fourth largest Amish population in the country

UW Health's Pediatric and Adolescent Transgender Health (PATH) Clinic provides comprehensive medical education and resources for gender-variant and transgender children and their families

UW Health offers one of the nation's few academic gender services programs and one of the few fellowship trained surgeons in the country performing gender affirming surgeries

uwhealth.org/equity

*Municipal Equality Index 2018: A Nationwide Evaluation of Municipal Law, Human Rights Campaign Foundation and the Equality Federation Institute